NEW FICTION

Grown Women

By Sarai Johnson

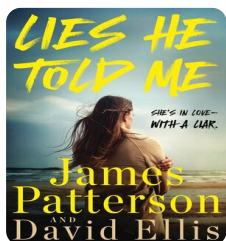

In masterful, elegant prose, the author has created a rich and moving portrait of Black women's lives today. Erudite Evelyn, her cynical daughter Charlotte, and Charlotte's optimistic daughter Corinna see the world very differently. Though they love each other deeply, it's no wonder that their personalities often clash.

Colored Television

By Danzy Senna

Jane has high hopes that her life is about to turn around. After a long, precarious stretch bouncing among sketchy rentals and sublets, she and her family are living in luxury for a year, house-sitting in the hills above Los Angeles. Things finally seem to be going right for Jane—until they go terribly wrong.

Lies He Told Me

By James Patterson

Everyone in Hemingway Grove, Illinois, knows David and Marcie Bowers. David owns the local pub. Marcie is a former big-city lawyer who practices family law. When David jumps into Cotton River to save a drowning stranger, he's celebrated as a hero. For David this is a death sentence.

One Eighty Too

By Charity Shane

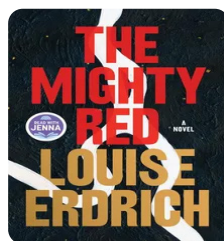

Amon and Brie are meant to be. However, life has a way of challenging even the strongest bonds. When things begin to crumble around them, Amon and Brie will have to trust their love if they intend to survive the storm.

Lovely One

By Ketanji Brown Jackson

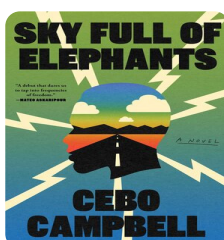

With this unflinching account, Justice Ketanji Brown Jackson invites readers into her life and world, tracing her family's ascent from segregation to her confirmation on America's highest court within the span of one generation.

The Mighty Red

By Louise Erdrich

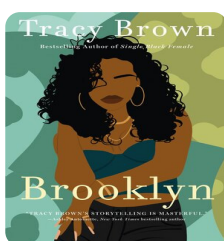

This is a novel of tender humor, disturbance, and hallucinatory mourning. It is about ordinary people who dream, grow up, fall in love, struggle, endure tragedy, carry bitter secrets; men and women both complicated and contradictory, flawed and decent, lonely and hopeful.

Sky Full of Elephants

By Cebo Campbell

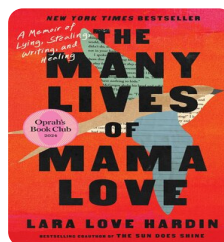

One day, a cataclysmic event occurs: all of the white people in America walk into the nearest body of water. A year later, Charlie Brunton is a Black man living in an entirely new world.

Brooklyn

By Tracy Brown

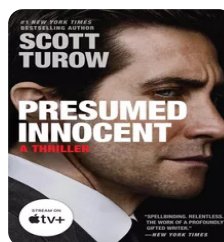

From DC to Maryland, Brooklyn burns bridges and breaks hearts. What she doesn't realize is that someone is prepared to end her reign of terror. As she faces her killer and her fate, Brooklyn's stunned that justice comes from the least likely place.

The Many Lives of Mama Love

By Lara Love Hardin

No one expects the police to knock on the door of the million-dollar two-story home of the perfect cul-de-sac housewife. But soccer mom Lara Love Hardin has been hiding a shady secret...

The Presumed Innocent

By Scott Turow

It's the stunning portrayal of one man's all-too-human, all-consuming fatal attraction for a passionate woman who is not his wife, and the story of how his obsession puts everything he loves and values on trial—including his own life.

NEW NON-FICTION

The Message

By Ta-Nehisi Coates

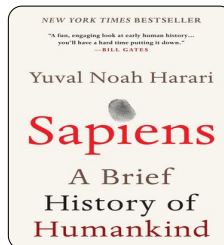

The author originally set out to write a book about writing, but found himself grappling with deeper questions about how our stories—our reporting and imaginative narratives and mythmaking—expose and distort our realities.

The Psychology of Money

by Morgan Housel

Doing well with money isn't necessarily about what you know. It's about how you behave. And behavior is hard to teach, even to really smart people.

Sapiens: A Brief History of Humankind

by Yuval Noah Harari

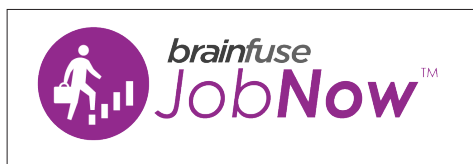

One hundred thousand years ago, at least six different species of humans inhabited Earth. Yet today there is only one—homo sapiens. What happened to the others? And what may happen to us?

Chief Wyandanch: Native Long Islander (1615-1658)

The community of Wyandanch is referred to the 17th century Chief or Sachem named Wyandanch. He is believed to have been born around 1615 in Montauk, the east end of Long Island, and died in 1658 around Long Island City, the western part of Long Island.

This plaque is displayed at the Wyandanch train station: "Wyandanch (c. 1615-1658) was a leader of the Montaukett Indians on eastern Long Island, referenced in many land agreements with 17th century European settlers. In 1889, the LIRR honored Sachem Wyandanch in bestowing the name to the station previously known as West Deer Park." While there are no drawings of Chief Wyandanch from his lifetime, Shinnecock artist David Burn Martine created this interpretation of Sachem's appearance.
